

A long way to the top: women at work in Australia

Female graduates outnumber males at record levels in Australia

But average graduate salaries for women are

And in the overall workforce, women earn significantly less than men

National gender pay gap

Figures based on full time average weekly earnings in Australia.

Fewer women are part of the paid workforce

Workforce participation rate

Women are over-represented in part time work, but only a small proportion of part time work is at management level

And women in Australia donate

Women retire with 52.8% less superannuation than men.

How many women make it to the top?

Female CEOs in ASX listed companies

10% of ASX200 companies do not have a woman on their board

24% of directors in the ASX200 are women

Sources: AICD May 2016 and KPMG May 2016

Women in the Australian Parliament

The United Nations regards 30% representation of women as the minimum level necessary for women to influence decision-making in parliament. Australia does not achieve this.

Increasing women's workforce participation in Australia by 6% could increase the national GDP by approximately

How does Australia stack up?

Chief Executive Women

Through advocacy, targeted programs and scholarships, CEW works to remove the barriers to women's progression and ensure equal opportunity for prosperity.

We strive to educate and influence all levels of Australian business and government on the importance of gender balance.

Chief Executive Women

Women leaders enabling women leaders